

Issue: Economic Justice/Taxation

Legislator: Senator John DiSanto

Date: November 2016

Content: As a private sector businessman all his life, John DiSanto knows that the government doesn't create jobs. Instead it's the hard working small business owners who create jobs in our communities. So John will fight hard to lessen burdensome regulations, keep the cost of government low, and make state government a partner with job creators to make sure our community has good paying jobs.

Property taxes are unfair – John DiSanto will go to Harrisburg and fight for a plan to eliminate them. When you own your home, you should own your home. The system we have now allows the government to take your house even though you've paid it off. Eliminating property taxes will relieve the burden of these taxes, especially on our working families and seniors. It will also jump-start our economy, by removing a significant barrier to home ownership.
